Subject: It's time to return ownership, when the Santa Monica airport closes, it should be used for housing.

When the Santa Monica airport closes, which is hopefully sooner than later, it should be used for affordable housing, possibly rent and ownership. That area is a great location to build a walkable community that supports homeownership for residents on the Westside that fall within the working class. The area can be used as a small home community, added townhomes, or a mixed variety of residential living spaces.
